The BRMi Difference.

A premier non-profit organization responsible for data analytics in support of clinical research struggled to adopt Agile practices in their product development and operations. BRMi’s Agile coaches led the organization’s adoption of agile best practices and measurable process and productivity improvements.

With the rigorous application of Lean and Kanban techniques, the operations team saw their lead times drop from 27 days to about 3 days—a 900% increase in productivity. The product development teams realized similar significant improvement in clearing their backlog of user stories through one-on-one coaching, experiential learning, and tailored mentoring.

Quantifiable ROI and Successful Adoption

BRMi has been integral in the design, delivery, and operation of projects that span all sizes of an enterprise portfolio. From large scale IT modernization efforts to delivery of short term engagements, BRMi has a proven track record of building business process IT solutions that are delivered with quantifiable return on investment and successful adoption by mission-critical-user communities.

Outcomes Delivered:

- Improve your adoption of Agile by product development, operations, services and leadership teams.
- Enable you to scale your Agile adoption using the right framework.
- Customize your Agile transformation journey to fit the unique needs of your organization.
- Create a collaborative team culture using standardized processes to improve/innovate continuously.
- Manage your change effectively and engage and inspire to drive successful execution.
